Taylor Community and Live Free Home Health Care form Unique Healthcare Partnership

(LACONIA – May 13, 2011) - Taylor Community President Tim Martin and Live Free Home Health Care (LFHHC) Co-Administrator Jason Harvey today announced a unique partnership between the two Lakes Region organizations by naming LFHHC as a Preferred Provider for Home Care services to Taylor Community residents.

Live Free Home Health Care, headquartered in Bristol, is the premier provider of home care services in central New Hampshire and the Lakes Region. Taylor Community is a not-for-profit (501 3c) continuing care retirement community considered the leader in senior retirement communities.

According to LFHHC Clinical Director Jennifer Harvey, RN BSN, Taylor Community independent residents will have the benefit of an on-site office staffed by a nurse to provide all of the benefits of dealing with LFHHC, to include; Triage, access to nurses, LNA's and all levels of care to include companions and housekeepers, all at a discounted rate. "We will be available to address any and all questions and concerns that may arise from residents at the Taylor Community," said Harvey.

"The addition of LFHHC being here on site complements the care and services already provided by the Taylor Staff to Taylor residents" said Taylor Community President Timothy Martin. "We are constantly looking for opportunities to collaborate with other organizations to offer new and different services and choices and this partnership does just that," Martin explained.

Co-Administrator Jason Harvey, of LFHHC commented that both organizations are acutely aware that periodic or chronic condition are a fact of life for most elderly individuals, so involving a healthcare professional in private duty home care often assures that changes in health status are properly managed. "We believe that having nurse trained caregivers and nurse oversight of all care makes a difference even with basic home care needs" he concluded.

"We were thrilled to get the call to discuss this project" said Jennifer Harvey. "The Taylor Community and it staff are well respected, and we are proud to be associated with this great organization and its residents. We look forward to a great relationship and an exciting future"
